

2026 MAKING BROOKLYN BLOOM

TEST

Hello, Brooklyn! Neighbors in Nature

Saturday, March 14 | 10 a.m.–4 p.m.

Neighbors say "Hello!" on East 25th Street. Photo by Zachary Schulman.

WILBUR A. LEVIN KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Radical Joy and Resistance

Kofi Thomas, Community Builder, Good Life Garden & The People's Garden

"I believe we can fight for the land and for each other with a smile... as long as we look to nature for the lessons that teach us how to care for one another. Lessons like interdependence, resilience, and harmony. In fact, without the principles embodied in our gardens, there would be no community."

IMPROVED SESSION REGISTRATION!

- Garden entry tickets required for all attendees. Book free tickets now at bbg.org/mbb.
- Registration for morning sessions and the keynote address opens on March 2 and is online only. Limited seats; no on-site registration.

Find more info online at bbg.org/mbb. If you need further assistance or require any accommodations to participate fully, please reach out to us by February 28 at community@bbg.org or 718-623-7250.

bbg.org/community

990 Washington Avenue | Brooklyn, NY 11225 | 718-623-7200

②③ to Eastern Parkway, ④ ⑤ to Franklin Avenue, or ⑥ to Prospect Park

Major Sponsor,
Making Brooklyn Bloom

Brooklyn Botanic Garden gratefully acknowledges support for this program from the Family of Wilbur A. Levin, NYS Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation, the NYS Assembly, the NYS Senate, NYC Department of Cultural Affairs, NYC Department of Sanitation, Brooklyn Borough President Antonio Reynoso, and the NYC Council.